LONDON, April 14.—Russian troops driving on Sevastopol have captured Bakhchisarai, last railroad town on the line running 18 miles southwest to the Black Sea naval base, a Moscow communique reported tonight, and have cleared the Germans from the eastern shore of the Dnestr Gulf, southwest of Odessa.

MOSCOW, April 14.—German and Romanian troops herded into the southern Crimea by Russian mobile forces now sweeping over the approaches of Sevastopol were reported trying to flee the Black Sea peninsula by sea today under a shattering hail of Soviet bombs. 'Front dispatches said the Axis defences of the Crimea had burst like a punctured balloon, and the end of the Red army's whirlwind campaign was nearing.

(The BBC said "the outer defences of Sevastopol may be within shelling range today).

A makeshift fleet of transports, barges, and light naval escort vessels running through Soviet land and air bombardment was reported attempting to take aboard the beaten remnants of Axis units in the Crimea, originally estimated at 100,000 or more.

The second Nazi attempt at a Black Sea Dunkirk within a week appeared doomed to the fate of the first, in which thousands of Axis troops were killed as they sought to escape from Odessa.

PLANES KEEP WATCH

Red air force assault planes hovered ceaselessly over the southern ports of the Crimea, bombing and sinking the Axis evacuation vessels. Field guns wheeled up within reach of the coast joined in the cannonading of ships offshore and the enemy columns streaming back into the ports.

(A Berlin communique tacitly acknowledged the coastal battle by air, sea and land-in reporting that naval escort vessels shot down three Soviet bombers over Feodosiya.)

Stormovik assault planes were reporting raking the approaches to the Crimean beaches, picking up

LONDON, April 14.—R.A.F. Mosquitoes, rounding out the sixth day of the greatest non-stop air offensive of the war, hit Berlin and western Germany last night after nearly 4,000 Allied planes blasted and burned seven countries and shot down 112 aircraft in a record two-way assault on Axis Europe yesterday.

War Remains Far From Won Declares Knox

TORONTO, March 14.—(CP)—The war, United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox warned last night, is far from won." In fact "the period of greatest sacrifice still lies ahead," he said at a dinner connected with Canada's Sixth Victory Loan which opens April 24. The two major Axis powers still hold their main fortresses intact and the roads to Berlin and Tokyo will be "long and bloody."

The navy secretary, introduced by Canada's Navy Minister Macdonald, conceded great encouragement was to be found in the current trend of the war, "with the initiative firmly in the hands of the Allies." But he reminded his listeners there had been "those misguided prophets who predicted victory by last Christmas . . . and immediately began to turn their thoughts to post-war periods."

NEED UTMOST EFFORT

Now is the time, he said, for the peoples of the United Nations to put forth "our utmost effort while we have the Hun on the run. . . . We can do no less than our best. . . . We cannot—we must not let down."

For those at home to relax their war effort at this point

Turkey Pledges Help For Allies

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ANKARA, April 14.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu told newsmen today "Turkey will aid the Allies within the limits of her material possibilities." He made this statement 10 hours after receipt of a note based on the plea by Cordell Hull, U.S. secretary of state, to neutral countries to cease trading with Germany.

The Turkish government, facing one of the most delicate problems it has confronted since the start of the war, apparently was giving the Hull plea its most serious consideration.

Labor Progressive Party Plans Enter Federal Elections

MONTREAL, April 14.—(CP)—The provincial executive of the Labor Progressive party announced today that the party had decided to enter candidates in "at least 12 federal constituencies" in Quebec in the next federal elections, and to enter candidates in two ridings in the provincial field.

QUEBEC, April 14.—(CP)—R. W. Morton, president of Morton Engineering and Dry Dock Company, Limited, announced today that a total of 457 workers would be released tonight "because of the completion of a naval program." The firm has been employing about 2,300 men lately.

GEN. HENRI GIRAUD

LONDON, April 14.—(BUP)—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud has been removed formally from his post as commander-in-chief of French armed forces and placed on the "reserve list," Radio France announced in a broadcast from Algiers today.

The Committee of National Liberation at Algiers voted to retire Giraud, effective immediately, the broadcast said.

Giraud went to North Africa to assume command of French colonial forces shortly after the Anglo-American landing in November, 1942 and became co-president of the Committee of National Liberation with Gen. Charles de Gaulle in June, 1943.

Coal Operators Plan Discussion On Ottawa Offer

Edmonton coal operators will hold a meeting Friday afternoon to discuss a revised offer from the Dominion government in the dispute which has caused the closing of operations of mines here.

It is understood that the new offer extends the period during which the 65 cents subsidy will be paid from three to 12 months, but operators state that even with the extension the subsidy will not offset the 10 cents a ton reduction in the price of coal ordered effective from April 1, nor will it meet the absorption by the operators of the 14 to 18 cents cost-of-living bonus given to the miners effective on the same date.

One operator, who has started the dismantling of mine machinery, is understood to be speeding up his operations as he cannot begin to pay operating costs if he has to meet the increase in the cost-of-living bonus, and the 10 cents a ton decrease in coal price.

In the revised offer the operators have been given to understand that War Time Prices and Trade Board officials will not sanction any further increases in the price of coal.

Net Earnings Of Sinking Fund Total $205,315

The net earnings of the sinking fund of the city of Edmonton during 1943 amounted to $205,315.57 and have been paid to the city of Edmonton under the terms of the 1937 refinancing plan, according to the annual report of the board published Friday.

The assets of the board have been reduced by $124,157.34, the amount repaid on principal by the city in 1943, and which was used to cancel city debentures.

Of the $2,700,000 provided under the refinancing plan of 1937 for utility extensions and local improvements, the amount spent is $2,258,922.65, there being no increase in 1943. Of this $489,099.02 has been repaid by the city and was used in the cancellation of debentures.

The total cancellation of city debentures during 1943 was $733,-754.07. This amount includes $19,-973.33 cancelled by sinking funds. The reserve fund of the board now amounts to $2,589,145 and is readily available when required, the report states.

The civic pension fund now amounts to $801,783.86, after providing for all pensions due to Dec. 31, 1943.

During the year 38 employees retired. Since the inception of the fund 139 employees have retired on pension, and have been paid $219,377.40 up to Dec. 31, 1943. There were 1,343 employees participating in the fund at the end of the year.

Since the fund's inception 255 employees have left the service and withdrew their contributions to the extent of $59,189.13.

Believe MacArthur Will Be Candidate

By C. R. BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(CP)—A few ambiguous phrases in some personal correspondence from Gen. Douglas MacArthur led political interpreters last night to the conclusion that the Allied commander in the southwest Pacific has made himself available for the Republican party's presidential nomination.

But if MacArthur meant just that, he didn't say so. What the conclusions were based on was the lack of a disclaimer in the general's correspondence with a Nebraska congressman of any political ambitions.

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—The MacArthur National Associates plans to circularize virtually every delegate to the Republican national convention in an effort to persuade them to nominate Gen. Douglas MacArthur for president, an official of the organization said yesterday.

Two R.C.A.F. Pilots Are Awarded D.S.O.

OTTAWA, April 14.—(CP)—Award of the Distinguished Service Order to two top-ranking R.C.A.F. fighter pilots, Wing Commanders R. W. (Buck) McNair of North Battleford, Sask., and Hugh Godefroy of Toronto—both of whom already have won multiple recognition—was announced last night by the R.C.A.F. with a series of lesser decorations.

McNair already has won the D.F.C. thrice while Godefroy has won it twice. McNair becomes the most decorated flier who has spent his entire operational career in the R.C.A.F. and is topped only by Flt. Lt. George Beurling of Verdun, Que., who won most of his decorations while a member of the R.A.F.

Also announced was the award of D.F.C.'s to F/O. Mike Gorrill of Creston, B.C., and F/O. R. H. Watt of Winnipeg.

Report School of Vermilion Will Become Nazi Officers' Prison Camp

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, April 14.—The Canadian Women's Army Corps basic training centre at Vermilion, scheduled to close on May 15, may be used by the department of national defence as a prisoner-of-war camp for enemy officers, according to reports emanating from well-informed circles here.

The Vermilion centre is owned by the Alberta government, and was used as a school of agriculture until taken over by the C.W.A.C. in 1941 to become Canada's first basic training centre for women in the armed services.

No information is obtainable as to the number of war prisoners the Vermilion installations could take, or what nationality they might be. With a step-up of operations on all fronts expected this year, it is no secret that officials are planning the establishment of more camps for prisoners taken in battle.

Prisoners have already been brought to Canada by the boat-load, where their maintenance does not pose the same problems as would confront the army if they were kept in Great Britain.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works for Alberta, said in Edmonton Friday he had no comment to make on the suggestion that the C.W.A.C. training camp at Vermilion might be used as a prisoner-of-war camp. He announced at the beginning of the week that the Dominion intended to retain control of the property after May 15, when the C.W.A.C. will vacate, "until further decisions are reached."

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—Moscow radio tonight broadcast this order to the Black Sea fleet: "In the Crimea surrogant invaders are in full flight. Sailors and airmen of the Black Sea do not let them get away. Destroy their ships. Shoot down their planes. Do not let a single one escape retribution."

Vichy Clamping Down on Church

BARCELONA, April 14.—(AP)—Joseph Darnand, secretary-general for maintenance of order in the Vichy regime, has put all Roman Catholic youth and other organizations in France under strict police supervision, advices reaching here said today.

Backed by militia forces, Darnand was reported to have put in active practice the anti-religious philosophy of Marshal Petat, minister of labor and secretary of state who is now called by Frenchmen "the brains of Vichy."

Darnand was said to have advised the clergy that henceforth government representatives would attend every religious service.

Britain's Deadliest Night Fighter Ace Scores 26th Victory

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—Wing Cmdr. J. R. D. Braham joined the upper brackets of the Empire's fighter aces yesterday when he destroyed his 26th enemy plane, a twin-engine machine shot down during a Mosquito attacker patrol over Denmark.

The 23-year-old R.A.F. ace, holder of the D.S.O. and bar and the D.F.C. and two bars, now is the fourth highest scorer among Empire airmen still on operations. Known as "The Destroyer" to the R.A.F., he is Britain's deadliest night fighter. Nineteen of his kills were made in the dark.

BRANTFORD, April 14.—(CP)—Harry Ernest Hatfield, 11-year-old son of a corporal in the R.A.A.F. last night was killed instantly when shot in the head by a shotgun police said was accidentally fired by a playmate.

City Pilot Flies Home Bomber Set Afire in Battle With Nazi

By ALLAN NICKLESON

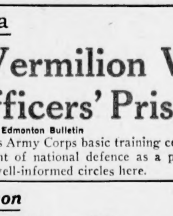

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—The message from the Black bomber to the Royal Air Force station said curtly: "Need ambulance — making forced landing."

A couple of minutes later the Lancaster, its frame charred in many places, bumped down on the dawn-lighted runway pursued by a racing ambulance which took the injured rear gunner to hospital.

The gunner, Sgt. A. G. Manuel of Belfast, during a nine-hour flight had shot down a German fighter plane, extinguished a fire that threatened to destroy the aircraft and, although burned, lacking oxygen and suffering from intense cold, remained on duty.

CITY AIRMAN PILOT

The air ministry said that the Lancaster "P for Peter," with three Canadians in the crew, was attacked by a Messerschmitt 110 while en route to Nurnberg the night of March 31. PO. P. J. Wilson, Commodore Apts., Edmonton, the pilot, shoved the plane into a steep dive during which Manuel fired a burst that set fire to the enemy plane. Seconds later the Messerschmitt blew up.

But gunfire from the attacker had set the Lancaster aflame. Behind the bulkhead doors ammunition exploded and the port elevator fabric burned. Fumes filled the interior of the ship

Local Hockey Star in Draft Tangle in U.S.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 14.—(AP)—Roy M. (Morey) Rimstad, 29, centre of the champion Buffalo International League hockey club, is in the United States army at Fort Sheridan, Ill., but a question arose today whether he has been legally inducted.

Rimstad, who was born in Dryden, Ont., and is still a Canadian citizen, but apparently never registered for U.S. selective service, Regis O'Brien, attorney for the Buffalo hockey club, said.

He was ordered to report for induction Wednesday by Detroit Local Board 23 and he left Buffalo Monday 'to discuss his status, but he was inducted.

O'Brien asserted he could not explain how Rimstad could be inducted if he never registered, and he is making an investigation. In addition, Rimstad has been ordered to report April 20 by Edmonton by Canadian military authorities.

A representative of the Canadian government in Chicago will interview Rimstad and Sheridan and attempt to clarify the matter, O'Brien said.

Rimstad's wife and three children are in Buffalo.

Is Commissioned

New Fleet Class Destroyer Joins Royal Canadian Navy

OTTAWA, April 14.—(CP)—All fight and speed, H.M.C.S. Algonquin, one of the most modern destroyers in the world, has been commissioned by the Royal Canadian Navy in a Clyde shipyard and her all-Canadian crew is expecting to see action in the invasion, the navy announced today.

A navy press release said that at the commissioning ceremony, the men were promised by Vice-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, senior Canadian flag officer overseas: "I shall do what I can to ensure that this ship will take part in the major operations which are to come."

Seventh destroyer to be given to Canada by Britain in the past year in a mutual-aid-in-reverse policy, the Algonquin is the first ship of her type in the Canadian navy.

Captain of the new destroyer is Lt.-Cmdr. D. M. Piers, D.S.C., of Halifax.

A fleet class destroyer, built to operate with capital ships, cruisers and aircraft carriers, the Algonquin has a long operational range which would make her particularly valuable in this type of work.

The navy release did not say but there was a possibility she would be used with ships of the same type to escort the two new cruisers Canada is getting from Britain or perhaps the two new Canadian-manned flat-tops of the Royal Navy.

Two thousand tons and more than 360 feet in length, the Algonquin has a speed of more than 36 knots.

First lieutenant is Lieut. Latham Brereton Jenson of Calgary. Lieut. John Douglas Lowe of Red Deer, Alta., is boarding officer.

France's Losses Greatest Since Signing of Armistice

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—Losses and destruction suffered by France have been far greater since the armistice than they were during the six months of her participation in the war, Robert de Beauplan, political commentator on the German-controlled Paris radio said today.

Nothing remained of the army of 100,000 men left to metropolitan France, of the 150,000 colonial forces, 1,000 trains and 700,000 tons of naval shipping, he said.

Of 2,200,000 tons of merchant shipping which he said France had after the armistice Beauplan said: "Today she owns 65,000 tons of which 15,000 tons are in Indo-China."

"The rest have either been sunk or seized, or are blocked in neutral ports," he added.

Referring to air raids he said: "At least 15,000 persons have been killed. 200,000 have had their homes destroyed, 800,000 have been evacuated and some 60 towns heavily hit, with 500,000 houses and public buildings destroyed."

NAPLES, April 14.—Allied and German artillery traded heavy blows yesterday along the main 5th Army point below Rome, it was disclosed today, while R.A.F. and American warplanes attacked Nazi rail and road lines north and east of the capital.

With Allied offensive efforts apparently still concentrated on the aerial campaign against the Nazi army's communications lines, ground fighting on the major fronts again was limited to patrol clashes.

Headquarters spokesmen revealed, however, that Allied and Nazi field guns exchanged violent shellfire in the lower Garigliano river valley southwest of Cassino.

Toronto Asks Army Tents For Families Evicted May 1

TORONTO, April 14. — (CP) — Controller David Balfour said today he has written Defence Minister Ralston asking for army aid in providing tents in which to shelter families evicted from their homes May 1.

He has asked for a survey of all available building space in the city and on Toronto island, the controller said, adding "we may be able to make use of some of the cottages on the island if the worst comes to the worst and we are left to solve this situation the best way we can."

Miss Dorothy Denison, of the City Housing Registry, said today more than 2,000 families are "desperately" seeking shelter.

Mayor Fred Conboy has said no one in Toronto will go homeless, and that police stations, fire halls and other city buildings will be opened to those evicted.

On May 1 all eviction orders, frozen during the winter by the Prices Board, become valid again.

U.S. Tourists Get Food Ration Books

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP)—F. C. Butt, regional superintendent of the ration division of the Prices Board, today outlined before the Ontario government conference on post-war tourist planning a plan by which United States tourists would receive food ration books as they crossed the border into Canada.

Ration officials would work with immigration officers at some points while tourists entering at other centres could apply to local ration boards for books.

Mr. Butt said, however, that tourists staying at private hotels for not more than five days would not receive ration books.

Superintendent Gives Talk on Proposed School

A talk on the advantages of a composite high school for Edmonton was given by R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of the Edmonton Public School Board, for the benefit of the members of the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues at their meeting held in the Civic Block Thursday evening.

The federation also discussed the subject of women conductors, or conductorettes on the city street car system.

In his outline of a composite high school Mr. Sheppard said, "A composite or community high school is a school where a boy or girl can get a high school education, and also train in whatever vocation he or she wishes to follow in later life, whether it be technical, business or sports.

"It is necessary for us to have a school such as this, for after the war the enrollment in high schools will increase, there will be more young people with leisure time and one of our plans is to show these young men how to use this leisure time profitably.

"About one-fifth of a person's time is leisure and how one uses this leisure time determines to a great extent whether he will make a success in life."

The federation went on record as being in support of the movement for a composite high school.

G. Shannon who introduced the subject of "Lady Street Car Conductors" stated, "It is not fair for men to walk the streets when there is a job available like that held by the women on the city street railway. If there is a shortage of men then it is fine for these women to do this job but if men are available then I think they should have the job."

This matter was referred to the civics committee for further investigation.

W. Walker moved that the city council be asked to hold a plebiscite on the ward system of civic government at the coming municipal election.

Mrs. N. Mylrea moved a motion that the federation petition the public school board to allow Community League announcements to be made in schools.

Disrupts Feud

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—It looks as if the war might disrupt the boxing feud between Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, the N.Y.N.J.-Pa. lightweight king. They have met three times in Madison Square Garden, each time with the title at stake, and each time the champion lost. The United States Army accepted Montgomery Wednesday at Philadelphia, and Beau Jack's Augusta draft board ordered him to take his physical exam April 17.

Japs Closing In on Imphal From 3 Sides

NEW DELHI, April 14.—Japanese jungle troops were reported closing in from all sides on Imphal today and an Allied communique indicated that the enemy siege line was virtually completed a mixed force of British and Indian veterans inside the fortress town.

Fanning out through the hills bordering the southern end of the Imphal plain, Japanese flying columns started toward the Bishenpur-Silchar highway, threatening momentarily to sever British communications with the Assam-Bengal railway line 70 airline miles west of Imphal.

A Tokyo propagandist said the Japanese had cut the highway 6½ miles west of Bishenpur and that other invading forces were attacking an Allied-held oil depot 3¾ miles northwest of Imphal.

(A BBC broadcast said Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, supreme Allied commander in southeast Asia, paid a flying visit to Imphal last Saturday to confer with the commander of the beleaguered town.)

OTHER ADVANCES

Simultaneously, other enemy forces moved in from the east and north against the Imphal outpost lines.

One Japanese column striking along the Tamu-Palel highway toward Imphal attempted to break through the British defenses southeast of Imphal but was beaten back with heavy losses, the communique said.

One hundred enemy troops were killed in this action.

The Japanese Domei News Agency asserted that Chindit-Imphal plain has been surrounded by Japanese forces, and predicted the destruction of the British-Indian leaders in that area before the beginning of the monsoon rains next month.

Canadian Officer Is Awarded U.S. Legion of Merit

OTTAWA, April 14.—(CP)—Brig. H. W. Foster, M. of Picton, Ont., serving with the Canadian army overseas, has been awarded the American Legion of Merit by the United States government, National Defence headquarters announced yesterday.

The decoration was presented as a mark of appreciation for his participation in co-operation with the United States forces in the occupation of Kiska Island in the Aleutians.

The citation accompanying Brig. Foster's award said:

"His leadership and unselfish devotion to the success of the project were outstanding and set a high mark for unreserved co-operation between two Allied powers."

Denies Savings Would Disappear Under C.C.F. Govt.

PERDUE, Sask., April 14.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F. party, said last night in an address at a public meeting here that "unscrupulous political propagandists" were spreading reports that if a C.C.F. government obtained power in Canada, your savings in the chartered banks, your war bonds and your life insurance would disappear."

These reports were "false," he said. "And I am bound to say that we are the only party in Canada which has urged and proposed that the savings of the people should be guaranteed by the nation . . . to the extent of repayment on the basis of 100 cents on the dollar."

Plan to Start On Building of New Dormitory

Work is expected to start soon on a $130,000 farm dormitory building at Oliver Mental Institute, it was stated Friday by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health.

The building, to be of one-storey construction, will house 70 patients who work on the 1,600 acres of farm land at the institution. It will be located half-way between the farm buildings and institution buildings, and will look after patients who would otherwise have to return to the main buildings after their day's work in the fields. Similar accommodation has been in use at the Ponoka mental institute for some time.

OBTAIN PRIORITIES

Priorities have been granted for construction of the Oliver addition, according to Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works. Actual construction work is to start soon, one of the determining factors being available manpower.

Other major construction jobs now under way by the public works department are a $25,000 addition to the Keith sanatorium, Calgary, and a $16,500 addition to the provincial training school at Red Deer.

the trails of fleeing Axis columns by the dust clouds they raised, and shattering the columns in massed bombing and strafing assaults.

Harried by air and by the Red army mobile units pounding at their heels, the routed units were being smashed and scattered everywhere, field dispatches said.

The Red Army vanguard raced down the South Crimean railroad from captured Simferopol into the approaches of Sevastopol, great naval base where the Russians held out under siege for eight months in 1941-42. There was no sign that the Axis would attempt even a pale shadow of the stand.

Already the two Red armies striking from north and east had overrun three-fourths of the Crimea, and by all signs the assault in Sevastopol was in the offing.

"Hitler wanted a blitzkrieg," said the Communist party newspaper Pravda in commenting on the sensational Soviet success in the Crimea. "We have given it to him."

Plane Will Carry Drugs to North

A Norseman plane of Canadian Pacific Air Lines will carry sulpha drugs to Fort McPherson outpost Friday for use in combatting an influenza epidemic in the district.

The drugs were to have been flown to Fort McPherson Thursday afternoon by Ernie Boffa, pilot on the last scheduled flight to Aklavik before break-up. Fort McPherson is about 1,400 miles from Edmonton and 200 miles south of Aklavik.

Word of the outbreak of influenza was sent to Ottawa last week by Mrs. R. Dewdney, wife of the Anglican missionary at Fort McPherson. The drugs were shipped to Edmonton and relayed to Smith to make connection with a northbound plane.

In the Fort McPherson district there are 10 white settlers and 200 Indians, according to Mrs. W. W. Douglas, 14706 Stony Plain road, who resided in the district for 12 years.

On Friday Mrs. Douglas said she believed there were to be "quite a number" of the Indians in the settlement 10 days ago for their winter celebrations. It is believed the outbreak was reported about 10 days ago.

Veterans From Western Units En Route Home

ABOARD A CANADIAN ARMY HOSPITAL TRAIN, April 14.—(CP)—Wounded soldiers from five western Canadian regiments are rolling homeward aboard this hospital train over the same road on which they started out for war more than four years ago.

When not playing cards or eating, the boisterous westerns spend their time arguing about the merits of their outfits—the Seaforth Highlanders, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Calgary Tank Regiment and the Saskatoon Light Infantry.

LUNCH WEDNESDAY

Personnel aboard this train and the other hospital train preceding it by a couple of hours landed at Halifax Wednesday aboard the Lady Nelson, Canada's floating hospital.

It is not a regular troop train for these battle-tested soldiers, but an all pullman and hospital car hookup. Every man has a berth for himself and the worst cases are assigned to comfortable hospital cars.

Among the friends are Spr. W. Z. Demars, of Gibbons, Alta., and Spr. R. E. Tyo, of Winnipeg, both went through piccolo together in Italy. They took part in the drive on Ortona and were caught in a German artillery barrage. One shell from a Nazi railway gun fell close enough to spray them with shrapnel. Demars lost both legs and Tyo received multiple injuries.

OLDEST VETERAN

Oldest man on the train is Spr. Joe St. Luke, of Sedgewick, Alta., 48, a brawny blacksmith in civil life. Joe became one of the physical strength and health was able to keep up with the youngsters in Italy with no trouble. He suffered back injuries in a mine explosion.

Life in Canada looks good to Cpl. George Haner of Red Willow, Alta. Haner was injured in Italy while serving with the Calgary Tanks.

Pte. Gordon Allan of Alliance, Alta., a member of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment—"with the accent on the Loyal," he says—was wounded in Sicily and was released from hospital in Britain in time to make the trip to Canada with the western group.

Raiders Surprised By Searchlights

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—An unprecedented display of searchlights stabbed the sky early today as the capital's big anti-aircraft batteries barked out at a small group of Nazi raiders that penetrated the London area for the second successive night.

Veteran watchers said the sky never before had been so lighted. Apparently the extraordinary use of searchlights was part of a defence surprise prepared in a series of night exercises earlier this week.

Attesting to the effectiveness of the tactics, only one small group of flares was seen over London proper. Several high explosives fell on the rim of the city causing minor damage. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The gunfire was heavier than Wednesday night, but the alert was as brief.

Invasion Rumor Branded "Fake" By Authorities

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—A purported German broadcast, heard by some Ontario residents last night, saying that Canadian troops had landed on the French coast south of Calais, was described authoritatively in London today as "entirely untrue from beginning to end."

TORONTO, April 14. — (CP) — European invasion rumors started by three Ontario reports that a German radio station had broadcast about an Allied landing on the French coast apparently were run down today to a German propaganda program which described how invasion forces MIGHT land and mentioned the Dieppe attack of 1942.

The rumors were described authoritatively by British sources in London as "entirely untrue from beginning to end."

THREE SOURCES

From three sources — in Toronto, London, Ont., and Malton, Ont.— the story of the purported invasion reached newspaper offices here. The gist of the reports was that Allied troops, including a large body of Canadian soldiers, had struck at or near Calais, on the French side of the English Channel.

The hours passed with no hint of official confirmation and strong indications the rumors were a false alarm. There was no sign of unusual activity in war department offices at Ottawa or Washington.

The fact none of the big radio stations had heard any invasion broadcast and that only Ontario listeners had told of hearing the emission raised belief the whole thing was a hoax.

GARBLED VERSION

Then, early today, the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a broadcast recorded by U.S. government monitors that it had the answer. The BBC said:

The report apparently stemmed from a garbled version of a German propaganda broadcast which described ways an invasion force might strike and mentioned Dieppe in which Canadian troops formed the main attacking force.

Officials in Ottawa dismissed the rumors lightly when they were first asked for comment. Any statement on an Allied landing—if it had been made—would have to come from the United Kingdom, they said. They suggested an enemy broadcast reporting a landing at Calais might well be a "kite" flown by the Germans.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

An imminent lunge across the Adriatic into the Balkans by the Allies is predicted in Axis radio reports. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, has called on the Albanians to resist the Germans in every way, telling them if they do their country soon will be liberated. Russian advance indicated.

"Sound Courses" Passed Up

Allied Decision to Take Rome Seen as Cause of Difficulties

By EDWARD KENNEDY

NAPLES, April 14.—(AP)—The Italian campaign, which began with an avalanche of Allied troops swarming over southern Italy in less than a month, has become but a bleeding sore.

Some Allied generals say it is bleeding the Germans. But in its present stage it is bleeding the Allies also, balked as they are at Cassino, on the Garigliano river and the Anzio beachhead.

Some of the generals are hopeful the campaign still will play a part in the defeat of Hitler similar to that of the peninsular campaign in the downfall of Napoleon, when Wellington landed in Spain and drained the French military strength for the final blow at Waterloo.

TWO SOUND COURSES

Last fall, when the Sangro and Volturno rivers were reached, two sound courses were open to the Allies: a big-scale drive up the peninsula, or contentment with southern Italy from which to dominate the central Mediterranean and bomb the Germans.

Washington and London decided on a third course.

The conquest of Rome was desired for political, moral and religious prestige at home and abroad. Allied forces in Italy were ordered to advance on Rome.

In doing so the 5th and 8th armies ran into an almost solid wall of rugged mountains stretching from the Tyrrhenian to the Adriatic sea.

SABOTAGE INEFFECTIVE

Italian resistance and sabotage proved less effective than had been promised by Badoglio; air support proved less effective than was expected in some cases; and despite steady aerial battering of Nazi supply lines, it has not yet cut off the flow sufficiently to make the Germans pull back.

It was believed that by the time of the Anzio landing the Germans would have been pushed out of Cassino and fighting would have progressed into the Frosinoe area, 25 miles northwest and that much nearer Anzio.

The attack on Cassino in mid-January failed, but it was decided to go ahead with a landing at Anzio anyway, in the hope it would compel the Germans to pull a disastrous number of troops away from Cassino.

LANDING SUCCESS

The landings at Anzio were a success, took the Germans by surprise and apparently disrupted them somewhat. But not for long. They were able to throw a big containing force around the beachhead without any apparent weakening at Cassino.

Net achievements since the occupation of Naples might be listed as tying up 19 German divisions and inflicting considerable casualties on them, but at considerable loss to the Allied forces.

It would be equally true to say the Germans in Italy are tying up the 5th and 8th Armies—or at least all of them above the holding force that would have been necessary if there had been established north of Naples and no attempt made to go to Rome.

After Defeat

Joint British-U.S.-Russia Body Will Govern Germany

By WES GALLAGHER

LONDON, April 14.—(AP)—Defeated Germany will be governed by a joint British-American-Russian "Allied military government with teeth in it," a reliable source in close touch with Allied armistice proposals said today.

And, he added, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of the Allied Western Front forces will be given the greatest authority of any military leader in history. Besides commanding all Allied land, sea and air forces, he will exercise direct and indirect control over the civilian life of most of the liberated Europe.

The plan for Germany was broadly outlined by this source after it was learned last night that no Allied military government was intended for France. Instead, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's committee of national liberation is to be given control of the civil administration of liberated France, receiving "Military recognition" as the official authority but not being granted diplomatic recognition as the French "government."

Details of the tri-power administration of Germany are being worked out by the European advisory commission in conjunction with military chiefs, an informant said.

would be "a species of treason," Mr. Knox said. He likened the Allies' present position to that of a prize-fighter who has driven his opponent to the ropes and prepares to "swing from the floor" and land the knock-out.

Mr. Knox praised accomplishments of the Royal Canadian Navy in battling the U-boat menace and in assisting to convoy some 50,000 ships across the North Atlantic.

PRAISES EXPLOITS

He also noted Canadian naval exploits in the invasion of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, along the convoy route to Russia and in the recapture of the Aleutian Islands.

The navy secretary lauded cooperation between Canada and the United States in the field of war production. "We have made a record without parallel in history," he said. "Together, we have wrought a miracle."

He stressed the need for continuation of such inter-Allied cooperation into the post-war era, particularly between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States. This, he said, would be "the indispensable prerequisite of any world understanding that will prevent aggressive wars in the future."

Responsibility for nurturing this relationship among English-speaking peoples lay largely with Canada and the United States, Mr. Knox said. He advised that all similarities, rather than differences, between the British and American peoples be emphasized by writers and public speakers.

DISTINCT DIS-SERVICE

"For Americans constantly to harp on characteristics of the British which are distasteful to us, and annoy us, constitutes a distinct disservice both to the war and to the cause of peace," he said.

Stanley Knowles, C.C.F., member of parliament for Winnipeg North Centre, said in an address last night that when the revision of the Bank Act comes before parliament in the present session, the C.C.F. will "insist" the time has arrived for public ownership and control of banking.

City Airman Flies Damaged Plane to Base

which was all but out of control. Wilson ordered the crew to don parachutes, then the inter-communication system failed.

The bomb-aimer, FO. P. N. J. Noble, of Allston, Ont., dropped the bombs on a "suitable target" while Manuel put out the flames with a fire extinguisher, during which his clothes, gloves and parachute caught fire. He fainted when his oxygen mask was partially melted by the heat and he suffered facial burns.

TORE OFF MASK

The English wireless operator tore off Manuel's smouldering mask and supplied him with oxygen. On reviving, Manuel insisted on manning a gun turret.

The navigator, WO. W. G. Knoeles, of Fort William, Ont., set a course which enabled the plane to join the main bomber stream on the return journey. The Manuel spotted a second fighter and gave directions to Wilson. The Lancaster was nose-heavy and inclined to dive to the left but Wilson carried out an effective evasive action which set the inter-com. system working.

Within sight of Britain the Lancaster, which had come down to 5,000 feet, went into a violent dive which the pilot checked just 400 feet from the ground. The bomber was vibrating so violently the English flight engineer rushed to the aid of the pilot in holding the stick.

HEAVILY DAMAGED

Inspection of the bomber after an almost perfect landing revealed that the port tail plane had been stripped of its fabric, the rear turret was blistered and charred, the bomb doors, fuselage, port mainplane, flap and gasoline tank extensively damaged.

Swiss Shoot Down American Bomber For Not Landing

BERN, Switzerland, April 14—(AP)—One of 13 American bombers ordered to land was shot down yesterday when it failed to respond to these instructions, a communique said last night.

It was brought down by Swiss fighter planes. Several members of the plane's crew parachuted to safety before the bomber fell into upper Lake Zurich, near Siebnen.

Ten other American planes landed at the Dubendorf airfield, one came down at Altenrhein and another at Obergiatt.

In addition to putting fighter craft into the air, Swiss anti-aircraft guns also went into action as Zurich experienced its longest raid alarm of the war—three hours and 10 minutes—while Allied planes were blasting targets in Germany.

See Record Year For Beekeeping

The outlook is promising for a record year in the beekeeping industry in Alberta, it was stated Friday by W. G. LeMaistre, provincial apiarist. He said many beekeepers are expanding their operations this year, and in addition, about 1,000 others are importing supplies to commence the work.

There has been no indication of a shortage of supplies of package bees, Mr. LeMaistre stated, and at the present time they are coming from California in growing numbers. On Good Friday 300 packages were sent into the St. Paul district.

Diagnostic Clinics

The Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, again emphasizes the seriousness of the situation in Alberta rural districts caused through the wartime shortage of medical doctors.

It is perhaps appropriate, then, to repeat the contention of this newspaper that the only satisfactory way to combat this shortage, in a national way, is by the establishment of diagnostic clinics throughout the whole country.

If no more civilian doctors are available at the present time, the only thing to do is to spread out the services of doctors who are available as widely as possible.

It is commonly known that diagnosis is the most difficult and time-wasting part of a doctor's duties. The establishment of diagnostic clinics, therefore, would enable the general practitioner to devote all his time to curative and preventive work. On the other hand, the doctors employed in the clinics would be enabled to extend their diagnostic skill to the maximum number of patients.

This would appear to be one effective way of dealing permanently with the shortage.

Good Citizenship

All Edmonton people who are acquainted with the excellent and loyal work being done by Mrs. Alberta Scoutan will applaud her choice by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the first good citizenship award made by that organization.

The precise nature of her efforts has been described quite fully in the news columns. It is enough to note here that this work, in connection with war salvage, is essentially unselfish and devoted.

If the Junior Chamber proposes to make future awards on the same basis it will make no mistake.

For good citizenship is tied up inextricably with self-sacrifice and work for others. The good citizen is one who thinks of the community first, himself or herself last.

Mrs. Scoutan fulfills these conditions admirably.

And the Junior Chamber has established an exceedingly high standard to follow in future.

Busy Times

Hogs moved into Edmonton in such numbers that at the middle of the week the packing plants had to declare an embargo on receipts and officials sent out a call to farmers to halt deliveries until further notice. The plants at the same time were calling on employment officials to find them 700 more men and women to cope with the rush of business, and the officials wondered where and when they could locate the required recruits.

A congestion of hogs and a scarcity of labor spell trouble for the packers and also for the farmers. But the trouble is in no way comparable, in kind or degree, to the reverse condition of a surplus labor supply or a scarcity of animals for the plants to convert into consumer products. A more than sufficient supply of hogs is at worst only an embarrassment or riches, and when jobs outnumber applicants it is because employment is plentiful.

That Edmonton plants need 700 more operatives and are swamped with hog deliveries is a striking demonstration of the foremost place held by stock-raising in the farming operations of this part of the province, of the importance of these industrial establishments to the economic life of the city, and of the condition of full employment that now prevails in town and country.

It Doesn't Pay

Nazis are now holding less than 50,000 square miles of Russian territory—some of it in the extreme south and in the north because fierce forces have cut off their lines of evacuation and they can't clear out.

A year ago last fall approximately ten times this area was in the Nazis' grip and they were fighting at Stalingrad and in the Caucasus to capture more. According to Russian figures it has cost Germany two men, killed, wounded or missing, for every square mile over which the tide of conquest flowed, and has now ebbed. And the cost goes on mounting though the territory has been lost.

For generations the militarist caste has dangled before the German people the dream of a "march to the east" and the carving out in Russia of an empire of wheat lands and iron deposits—and later oil fields—that would enable them to "swim in wealth". That thieves' project has been attempted, with such an array of military strength as no country had ever seen, and it has been utterly shattered. Now retribution is sweeping through the satellite states toward Germany itself, and to the blood price of bootless temporary conquest is to be added the blood price of punishment.

The crash of the grand scheme of robbery with violence is the more meaningful because it was brought about by Russian generalship and valor, aided directly by nothing more than material aid from the other Allies. The Russians have demonstrated their ability to take care of themselves, in a way that future generations of Germans will not forget. There is no open road to plunder in that direction, but only a road to death and disaster.

Germany had better throw away Mein Kampf, burn the whole library of Prussian war propaganda, and go back to the teachings of an older book in which it is written "Thou shalt not covet."

A Fair Decision

Dr. Frigon, acting general manager of the CBC, says that while the Social Credit Association does not yet comply with a strict interpretation of the regulations a way will be found to allow the association free time on the CBC's national network along with other political parties.

The holding of the recent national convention, adoption of a national platform, and election of a national leader, apparently put the party nearly enough in line that the remaining stipulations can be overlooked and the party given the broadcasting privilege.

Fair-minded people, whether or not they accept Social Credit doctrine, will recognize this action as just in the circumstances. That the radio committee of the House of Commons will interfere with the decision is improbable, despite whatever breach of the regulations is involved.

The committee should however review the regulations and make amendment if necessary to prevent this concession being made a basis of claims on the part of mushroom organizations and minor cliques which do not in fact national in character and standing. Radio listeners have a right to be protected against the absorption of radio time by small or local groups which are national parties only in the imaginations and hopes of their members.

Moscow estimates that 150,000 German and Romanian troops were trapped in the Crimea last fall. What in that case becomes of the boasted super-sagacity of the Prussian brand of generalship? Berlin said at the time that the eastern front was being deliberately shortened by a voluntary withdrawal of the Axis forces. Didn't the Hitler generals know their withdrawal was leaving ten divisions stranded in the Crimean peninsula?

Tory Strategy Becomes Clearer

Traditional Tactics Are in Vogue in the Federal Arena

By GRANT DEXTER

As the last span of this parliament narrows, the grand strategy of the Conservative party is becoming clearer.

To the average person in the English-speaking provinces there might be no significance in recent Conservative activities in Quebec. But Mr. Bracken's mass meeting at Quebec City, coupled with a preliminary roll of the party drums in the Globe and Mail, offer fairly clear evidence that Mr. Bracken has decided to follow traditional Conservative strategy.

This strategy is rather complicated, but on two occasions—1911 and 1930 — it achieved the purpose of placing the Conservatives in power at Ottawa.

It has three phases:

1. The Liberals are attacked by Conservatives in English-speaking Canada on the ground of subservience to Quebec. The Liberal government is represented as the tool of French Canada.

2. The Conservatives refrain from running Conservative candidates in Quebec except in the two or three English-speaking constituencies on the Island of Montreal.

3. The Conservatives give their utmost support—including financial support and promises of rich rewards if the strategy succeeds—to the Quebec Nationalists. In 1911 it was Bourassa. In 1925 it was Patenaude. In 1944 it is Duplessis.

The degree of success achieved by the Conservatives to date is a matter of speculation. To what extent does English-speaking Canada regard the influence of Quebec in the Liberal government as undue? And will the electors of Quebec repeat past performances, notably that of 1911, when they elected Nationalists who were subsequently revealed to be camouflaged Conservatives?

The record of the past is complete.

Mr. Bourassa, the foremost Nationalist of his day, founded the Nationalist League along about 1903. He did not make much impact on the province until the Laurier government brought down the Canadian navy bill in 1909. The Conservatives opposed the bill as inadequate, as a dodge to provide a "tin pot" navy, whereas the right policy was to contribute to the British navy. Mr. Bourassa charged Laurier with plunging Canada "into the vortex of militarism." The navy bill was a betrayal of Canada to British interests. Le Devoir, a shoestring paper, was bought up by the Nationalists and has continued ever since as the organ of extreme nationalism.

In the election of 1911, the issue in the English-speaking provinces was reciprocity. In Quebec it was the navy and Laurier's "great betrayal." Laurier was portrayed as an imperialist.

A few examples of the Nationalist oratory of 1911 will indicate the nature of the campaign in Quebec.

Mr. Monk spoke as follows in Drummond-Arthabasca:

"A day will come when draft officers will be scouring the country and compelling young men to enlist either in the army or navy and to go to foreign lands to fight with their own expenses. Sons of Canada will be sent to scatter their bones on the inhospitable soil of Africa."

Mr. Blondin appealed to the electors "to shoot holes in the Union Jack." He said that he could not breathe the air of imperialism and required that the flag be riddled to admit the air of freedom.

Mr. Sevigny said:

"The navy bill is an attempt by Ontario and the provinces of the west to coerce Quebec and enslave our people forever. What has England ever done for you? You must protest against helping England in her wars."

The campaign literature issued in behalf of the Nationalists included such statements as this:

"The law passed by Laurier robs you of your children. They will take 50,000 to 60,000 men, all fathers of families or young men on the point of so becoming, who will have to go to Japan, China or Oceania under the command of English officers who, wishing to make our race disappear, will see to it that their ships go to the bottom of the sea. Those who disemboweled your fathers on the Plains of Abraham ask you today to go and get killed for them."

To those who recall this campaign, the foregoing quotations will recall many others. A reference to the annual review or to Hansard of the years following the election will uncover any desired quantity of similar statements.

The recognized leaders of the Nationalist campaign were Mr. Bourassa and Armand Lavergne. In 1913, Mr. Bourassa told the story of 1911 in a series of articles in his newspaper Le Devoir.

Plant Snapdragon Seeds Now

One of the Sturdiest Flowers and Best for Cutting

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

Did you know that one of the sturdiest flowers for the garden, and also one of the best for cutting, is the snapdragon?

Regarded as annuals, and used in this sense in the garden, snapdragons are really perennial. This trait has a bearing on their manner of growth, for not only is a considerable growing period a prerequisite to good flowers, but the initial growth is slow.

In order to have snapdragons flowering in July and August seed must be sown now in a greenhouse or indoors. The small seeds, if they are fresh, will germinate easily, so thick sowing should be avoided. The great difficulty with growing your own snapdragons is not germination of the seed but loss of seedlings from the disease known as damping off.

Recent investigations have proved that the trouble can be avoided by using moss as a medium upon which to sow the seeds. The moss should be spread as a covering over the surface of the regular soil mixture. The best procedure is to mix together one-third soil, one-third sand and one-third leafmold or peatmoss, and sift the mixture through a quarter mesh screen. A little rough material should be put in the bottom for drainage.

Planting the Seed

After the seed pan has been filled with soil mixture to within one and one-half inches of the top, it is covered with the dried moss which has been rubbed to a fine powder between the hands. It should then be well watered before scattering the seeds. A thin film of the moss dust is then placed over the seeds, which are covered also with glass and newspaper until the seed germinates.

The seedlings are shaded from direct sunlight for a week or so, but are then given all possible light to induce stocky growth. As soon as the second pair of leaves has developed—they are the first true leaves, having the recognizable outline of snapdragon foliage—the seedlings should be pricked off or, in common parlance, transplanted.

Flats or wooden boxes are preferable for transplanting since they allow room to set the seedlings two inches apart. The soil mixture can be the same as that used for planting seeds, if a small amount of manure is added.

When the young plants have made three or four tiers of leaves the very tips may be pinched out in order to force the plants to send out side stems.

Ready for Garden

The seedlings can be kept in the flats until time for planting in the garden. But before they are actually set out in the open they should be transferred for two weeks or more to a cold frame, so that they may become accustomed to outdoor conditions.

The sash of the cold frame is lifted for a short period each day and the time of exposure is gradually increased until the plants are fully exposed. .

Better results are possible if a week before being set out in the cold frame each plant is potted up into a three-inch pot, thus lessening the check in growth when they are moved to the garden.

In advance of planting, soil in the garden should be well prepared to a depth of at least 12 inches, for snapdragons are heavy feeders. If two inches of old manure or compost can be dug in, so much the better. Fertilizing should also include two pounds of superphosphate for every 100 square feet planted with snapdragons.

After the first crop of bloom, plants should be cut back to within six inches of the ground and kept watered and cultivated to encourage another good showing of flowers.

Staking is best done with light canes and string, or, better still, by inserting twiggy brush.

Snapdragons enjoy plenty of moisture while they are growing. They should be watered frequently prior to bloom. Watering—or feeding—weekly with liquid manure is advisable when spikes of buds form.

An Economist Talks to Laymen

New Book Says Canada Built to Depend Upon Export Trade

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

"Throughout this Dominion's history, 12 months of exporting on a huge scale, and a profit, have always been followed by 12 months of prosperity. The reverse is equally true." In these words, Mr. Gilbert Jackson, their distinguished Canadian economist, brings down to simplest terms the actual facts of Canada's future, stripping them of an accumulated debris of theory.

Putting the thing in a nutshell in his new book, Mr. Jackson shows that the value of exports add just about $5 to our national income above the basic minimum that we could survive if we traded with one another inside the country. And:

"So long as we retain our present dislocations (which is really the governing factor) and our present agricultural and industrial structure, we must replace the stimulus of income from exports by remedies applied internally. There is no political magic that can do the trick."

Canada, as Mr. Jackson shows, is built to depend on export trade. From its beginning a large part of our people and our industry equipped themselves solely to engage in this trade, to produce highly-specialized products required by the world. It is on the prosperity of these people that the internal business of Canada depends. If they are unable to sell their specialized products in world markets, then they cannot buy the products of Canadian industries at home. Thus the whole national prosperity depends ultimately on the prosperity of these specialized producers.

Admittedly, the home market within Canada has expanded enormously during the war:

"But the size of the post-war domestic market, for almost all of our manufactured goods, will in turn depend on those margins at consumers, the specialized producers-of-export. They will need a market outside Canada which assures them the necessary spending power to keep our urban industries busy."

For these reasons Canada is more interested, perhaps, than most countries in the restoration of the great consuming market of Europe whose purchases of Canadian goods—although only 25 per cent of the total—make all the difference between a prosperous and a depressed economic business in Canada. Mr. Jackson feels, therefore, that Canada should contribute heavily towards European restoration through the relief methods of UNNRA and Mutual Aid and through loans.

"If we are to rebuild a world market," he says, "we need not be much concerned over the general question; no matter which party may govern our destinies, full employment will not be an unreasonable goal. But if there is to be no revival of a world market, then the sooner Canadian politicians get used to making the subject of full employment, the better chance they have of remaining in politics."

In plainest terms, Canada cannot hope for full employment or prosperity without a huge export trade which means, of course, huge imports.

The problems in the way of restoring world trade are enormous, great. Mr. Jackson says properly that if most of the nations of the world emphasize "economics, then, regardless of their democratic politics, they will certainly be buying from the importers of Canadian goods. For totalitarianism is the negation of trade—a fact which the C.C.F. will never face.

There are, as well, obstacles to trade within Canada itself—not merely the objection to imports which must be accepted in payment for exports, but also the question of price. If we cannot produce our exports at prices to compete with the prices of other nations, we cannot sell them.

"The hope of securing full employment," says Mr. Jackson, "is going to depend on trade possibilities; and these in turn will depend, not least, on our capacity for meeting the customer's price, not in some sheltered preserve that we can exploit (for there are going to be none such), but in all of the markets abroad."

To this end Mr. Jackson points out frankly to the working people of Canada that if wages, and hence prices, are too high we cannot get world business and they will be the chief sufferers thereby. But there is no use telling the sellers of export products that they must keep their wages and prices down while the rest of us, who sell in the Canadian market, keep our costs up. For the rest of us sell our goods to these export workers and, if our prices are too high, these people cannot purchase and we cannot sell our products. We, too, the people dependent on the domestic market, must be prepared to keep our prices down also if our exporters are to survive and maintain our general prosperity.

The soundness of this statement does not rest on theory. Mr. Jackson proves it by citing the position of our great export industry, agriculture. So long as the price of manufactured goods is reasonably low compared with farm prices—so long, in other words as the farmer gets enough for his produce to buy manufactured goods—then the nation is prosperous. But as soon as farm prices are relatively low compared with manufactured prices—and the farmer is unable to buy manufactured goods—unemployment rises at once.

Tax System Harmful

From The Fundy Fisherman, St. John, N.B.

The present methods of collecting income taxes from those who come within the lower brackets, is doing Canada harm in more ways than one by interfering with production.

In all our primary industries it has been the custom to work a 50 or 60 hour week. The present taxing method has practically killed all incentive to work a full week. Further, the employment of intermittent employees has been made very difficult because these workers are being taxed heavily for monies they do not owe at all and are told to file their claims for a rebate and wait several months.

Now these workers who have been induced to help out during the busy season need their money when they earn it and it is not right to deprive them of a part of their wages for several months, besides it discourages them from working under such unsatisfactory conditions.

Any tax scheme should be made to conform to the system of employment to which it is applied.

Take the pulp and paper industry as a glaring example, which depends on the United States for its chief market. Every newspaper, magazine or other publication in the United States are being asked to curtail more and more through lack of raw material. Canada is not able to supply the quantities of pulp and paper needed in the United States, simply because we are not getting sufficient production of pulp paper here in Canada, and one of the chief reasons why we are not getting a normal production is the antiquated tax methods that are being applied to those who work in our lumber woods cutting pulp wood and other forest products.

Why risk the good will of these publications in the United States by refusing to change our nonsensical taxing system which has cost the country millions and millions in the production of real wealth, not only in the pulp and paper industry, but in every primary industry.

Diamond

U.S.S.R. BULLETIN

During the war intensive diamond mining has developed in an area of the Western Urals. The Urals' "Diamond Land" was discovered in 1829, when the first Russian diamond was found in this area. During an entire century only 239 diamonds were mined.

After the Revolution the "Diamond Land" was carefully explored and its industrial exploitation began. The demand for diamonds, which are widely used in the mining, rubber, silk and weaving industries, and also all in tank and aviation construction, has increased greatly during the war.

As a result, new mining districts with small electric power stations, industrial buildings, dwellings and clubs have sprung up in the diamond area of the Urals, where formerly there was only virgin forest, and even the huts of trappers were few and far between.

Canuck Veteran, In Army at 13, Finds War 'Mess'

VANCOUVER, April 14.—(CP)—Veteran of action in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, Pte. A. Holgate, 16, of Vancouver arrived home yesterday for discharge after his age was discovered overseas.

"I was 13 when I joined, up," he said. "I'm glad I'm back.

"You came through without a scratch?" a newsman asked.

"I got some—I got all the smells," the young Seaforth Highlander answered, "I was one of the cleaning up crowd after the troops, burying the dead, cleaning up all the other places. I'd rather be in action than that. I'm not a mess or become a mess and somebody else cleans up."

U.S. May Share Costs of Road

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(CP)—Representative Warren Magnuson (Dem.-Wash.) chairman of the Alaska International Highway Commission, said yesterday if Congress extends the life of the commission a bill will be introduced to authorize payment of the United States' share of a proposed $12,000,000 road running from Prince George, B.C., to connect with the Alaska Highway in the Whitehorse area of the Yukon.

The commission expires next June 30 and Magnuson said after a conference with war department officials he would introduce a bill extending its life.

He said army officers told him they could see no reason for a conflict between the commission and the army over construction of additional highway outlets to Alaska.

VICTORIA, April 14. — (CP) — Any action taken by the United States government to assist in construction of a road linking Prince George with the Alaska Highway will have no effect on British Columbia's present undertaking to connect Prince George with the Peace River country via the Pine Pass route, it was said in high government circles last night.

Federal Official Has No Knowledge Of 'Flu Outbreak

OTTAWA, April 14.—(CP)—An official of the federal resources department said yesterday he had heard nothing about "a number of cases" of influenza breaking out at the northern outpost of Fort Macpherson, about 1,400 miles north of Edmonton.

He was commenting on a news dispatch from Edmonton which quoted officials of the Canadian Pacific Air Lines as saying a number of cases of influenza had broken out at the outpost and the residents there were waiting for a shipment of sulpha drugs from Ottawa.

The government officials said that influenza was not uncommon among the northern people. Cases usually broke out when strangers visited the outposts.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

HOCKEY fans privileged to sit in on last night's Stanley Cup final in Montreal have an unforgettable experience to recall down through the years. Final game . . . home team unbeaten in the series . . . in arrears 4-1 with less than 10 minutes to go . . . and then, bang!

It was also very appropriate and fitting that the payoff counter in the overtime should have been scored by Toe Blake, veteran and captain of the Canadiens. The setting of course, was made to order for the great left-winger, for already he had helped in all four of his team's previous counters.

In fact the whole affair, from the Canadien standpoint at least, could hardly have been improved upon. "Only thing lacking was that Richard didn't draw an assist so he and Blake could share equally the new scoring record," said the No. 1 hockey fan of the Bulletin's composing room staff, when he looked into the sport cubicle as the "day side" came in this morning. And, "methinks" he had something there!

TRIO COLLECTS 48 POINTS

WHILE Blake naturally will get most of the play—and after all goals still occupy rather an important place in a hockey game—the work of the entire Lach-Richard-Blake line was something for any coach to dream about.

During the Toronto-Chicago playoffs this trio bagged a total of 48 points. Of these Blake contributed 18 (seven goals and 11 assists), Richard 17 (12 goals, five assists) and Lach 13 (two goals, 11 assists). It is a co-incidence too that Lach, the former Moose Jaw boy hadn't scored a goal in the two series until last night.

In the four games with Chicago, Blake collected eight points (five assists), Richard seven (five goals) and Lach five (three assists).

GREAT SECOND LINE TOO

BUT while the orchids are being handed around, the Watson-Chamberlain-Getliffe line shouldn't be overlooked. These three netted four of the Montrealers' five goals in the first (5-1) session with the Black Hawks, and in the two series gathered in the impressive total of 28 points (13 goals). Of these Phil Watson came up with 11 (eight goals), while Ray Getliffe collected nine (five goals) and Jack Chamberlain eight (five goals).

And just to complete the Canadien points picture—Mike McMahon collected five points (four assists), Bouchard four (three assists), Heffernan and O'Connor three each (two assists each) and Lamoureux also had three points, all of them assists.

As anticipated Clint Smith and Doug Bentley were the most prolific point makers for Chicago, each having 12. Bentley's were made up of eight goals and four assists, with the figures exactly reversed in Smith's case.

George Allen was next for the Hawks with nine (five goals), followed by Cully Dahlstrom with five (four assists), Bill Mosienko four (evenly divided), Johnny Harms three (all goals), Art Wiebe two assists and Wingy Johnson with a single assist. Harms, it will be recalled, was brought up from Hershey especially for the series with Montreal.

And, just in case you are planning on taking in the game—the Cardston girls basketball team will not be here for Saturday's play with the Starlets. Coach Clare Hollingsworth of the latter quintet received a wire yesterday to effect that the Shooting Stars would be unable to come to Edmonton—they play the Calgary Wiltichens tonight.

New Record

Toe Blake, veteran Canadien forward set a new scoring record for a Stanley Cup series when he collected five points against Chicago Black Hawks last night to raise his total to 18, one more than line-mate Maurice Richard. Blake assisted in the first four Montreal markers and then slapped in the winner in overtime.

FOR SHAVING COMFORT YOUR BEST BET IS BLUE GILLETTE BLADES

Baseball is too hide-bound and unprogressive, in Dick's opinion, and he thought a few changes would give it a boost. He suggested changing the rules so a pitcher could have a pinch-hitter sub for him at the plate in a crucial spot, and then go back on the mound to continue his regular chores.

"Let a pitcher do what he can do, pitch, and a hitter do what he can do, which is hit," Dick summed up.

That would open up the game and allow for more runs, the thing every red-blooded fan wants. It would have much the same effect as hockey's new five line rule, one of the progressive, though hotly-disputed, changes Dick was talking about.

Still, with the calibre of ball players, including pitchers, that will be showing this year, there should be plenty of runs as it is.

The patient died:

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is about six years too late offering aid to boost the game's popularity . . . Manitoba, Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning says. He explains: "Six years ago the C.L.A. was the party principally responsible for the slump of local lacrosse into obscurity. Then the C.L.A. told the Winnipeg team to post a guarantee of $300 for an eastern club to stop over here . . . Struggling along on a pinch-penny basis, the local people didn't have $300. . . . The C.L.A. at that time had a trust fund of $12,000 which might have been used to encourage development of interest in the game."

Chicago Hawks Beaten 5-4 After Extra Session: Lead 4-1 With 10 Minutes to Go

Montreal Canadiens Win Stanley Cup

Blake's Goal In Overtime Ends Series

By HAROLD FREEMAN

MONTREAL, April 14.—(CP) — Montreal Canadiens won their first Stanley cup since 1931 Thursday night, coming behind a three-goal deficit to edge out Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 in overtime on Toe Blake's series-winning goal. The goal gave Canadiens the final series in four straight games.

It was a fitting climax to a wonderful game for the veteran captain of Canadiens, for he had set up the plays on all four goals that Canucks bagged in the regulation 60 minutes of play. Elmer Lach bagged two of them and Maurice Richard the other two.

That overtime goal also gave Blake a new point record for play-off hockey, running his count to 18 to surpass the new mark set last Sunday by Richard. Richard ended with 17 points.

Canadiens had to fight all the way against the battling Hawks. Three goals down entering the third, they fought back with a click in the final 10 minutes and rapped home three counters to send the contest into overtime.

George Allen opened the scoring for Hawks after five minutes of play. Canadiens had just emerged a slashing penalty to Mike McMahon and the teams were at full strength when Cully Dahlstrom fed Allen a pass from a scramble and Allen made no mistake on a short hard drive.

Elmer Lach tied it up three minutes later, with a golfed shot from 15 feet out that didn't leave the ice as it passed Mike Karakas. Lach was in front of the net when Toe Blake's hard pass came out to him from the side. He knocked it down and golfed it into the net all in one motion.

The three Chicago goals of the middle period came in less than three minutes, all of them on power plays while Canadiens were short-handed through successive penalties to Blake and Watson.

Rookie Johnny Harms bagged the first while Blake was off, with Dahlstrom and Allen in on the play. Allen bagged the second, from Bentley and Smith, and Smith set up Bentley for the third. Watson was off on both occasions.

There were chants of "fake" from the crowd as things slowed to a walk at times in the remainder of the period.

But in the third Canadiens stormed in time and again, until it was obvious the pressure must tell.

Elmer Lach put Canucks back in the game early through the period, poking in a short one after taking Blake's pass from close-in. Then Richard let go with a couple that tied things up, with Blake again making the plays. The first one was the picture goal of the night, with Richard letting fly with a back-hand after he was spun completely around on the ice from the net.

The second came a minute later, on Blake's perfect pass-out from behind the net, to send the game in overtime and set the stage for Blake's winner.

20 Finals Set For Tonight

Eight Championships Decided On 2nd Night of Swell Bouts

EIGHT championships were decided on the second night of the three-day city schools boxing and wrestling competitions when a total of 32 thrilling bouts were staged at the Westglen gym on Thursday night. Twenty more titles will be settled tonight with the opening event set for 7:30 o'clock.

Donald Ross won the 100-pound elementary and Gordon Lutz took the 80-pound intermediate boxing titles while Verle Bell, Douglas Bagnall, Jim McCallum, Bill Kortes, Jerome Saumer and Bill Green all came through on top of their respective wrestling divisions.

Feature boxing go of the night was the 147-pound high school fight between Alex Romaniuk of Westglen and Carleton Taylor of Victoria, which was won by Taylor after a tough battle. Romaniuk showed a little superiority in the first round, but the winner came back strong in the second and third as both glove throwers gave everything they had to supply a real thriller.

The two high school wrestling matches highlighted a 12-bout card in which six titles were decided. Jerome Saumer of Westglen needed all he had to win a close decision over George Krook of Victoria and the 145-pound class crown while the fans also saw lots of action in the 125-pound high school final. Bill Green of Victoria won the bout, but Bud Halbert of Westglen supplied tough opposition and only lost out by a close verdict.

KORTES WINS DIVISION

Taylor.

Two boxing crowns were also settled last night. Donald Ross of Garneau turned in an outstanding performance to take a decision from Donald Simon of Spruce Avenue and the 100-pound elementary title while Gordon Lutz of Donald Ross walked away with the 80-pound intermediate championship by taking a two-pound decision over Fred Forester of Garneau.

ONLY ONE T.K.O.

There was only one technical knockout on last night's scheduled 20-bout boxing card; three were defaulted and the remainder went by decisions.

The T.K.O. was scored by Edward Kay of Sacred Heart in his 106-pound intermediate semi-final with Frank Doucette of Grandin. Kay now meets Ken Duncan of Eastwood tonight for the title.

Other action-filled bouts were those won by Ronnie Mooney of Spruce Avenue, Jimmy Fox of Bennett and Adam Odynsky of Victoria.

Larned Wanted to Help Out

Yanks Shanghai Councilman Who Came Out to Play Catch

By HARRY GRAYSON

ATLANTIC CITY, April 14—As the immortal bard or someone wrote, some are born to fame, others achieve fame and some have fame thrust upon them. Claude Larned, 30-year-old councilman and gas station proprietor of Pleasantville, N.J., had it dumped all over him, and is having a heck of a time trying to wriggle out from under it.

When the Yankees pitched camp and began spring training at Atlantic City, Councilman Larned was reminded of his more youthful days when he played a bit in the Cardinal chain. He hadn't caught since he was behind the bat for Trenton five years ago, felt the urge to get out and do a little limbering up with the boys.

Claude Larned

Besides, he heard Joe McCarthy needed players, especially catchers.

"The player shortage being what it is," said Councilman Larned to himself. "I'll just help out a little behind the plate for a spell."

He got an Atlantic City sports-writing friend to ask Manager McCarthy if it would be all right.

COUNCILMAN UNWANTED

"Hell no," responded Marse Joe. "If I open the gates I'll have every screwball in the country ganging up on us."

The Sports writer pleaded. McCarthy relented. After all, the New Yorks were going to work in Atlantic City, and he wanted to get along.

So Councilman Larned showed up for a little game of catch. The pitchers started winging 'em in. Councilman Larned caught 'em all. He was a bit sore the first night, but in high glee. Wasn't he back in the thick of things?

Photographers snapped Gas Station Proprietor Larned filling a tank of a car at a station next to the armory in which Yanks toiled indoors. It made a different sort of a composite. The gas station proprietor at work and in the catching squat in a Yankee uniform. The vice-president of Larned's gas company considered the stunt clever publicity, dispatched the pictures to dealers throughout the country.

Councilman Larned who seems perfectly contented minding his own business in Pleasantville on March 12 was a national character on March 13.

WANTS TO BE HIMSELF

And as the days rolled on, McCarthy was impressed. Here was a blamed sight better catcher than he could pick anywhere and, with Bill Dickey about to be inducted and Rollie Hemsley on the farm, the Rupperts need a backstop like mazzy needs dotes.

But meanwhile Councilman Larned's lawmaking was piling up and his gas station was going on the rocks.

Councilman Larned wanted to go home, but couldn't let the mighty Yankees down when they went on their record road trip. He is on the horns of a dilemma, and it's worse than a guy sitting on two tacks simultaneously. Besides, the Yankees won't let him go. They've practically Shanghaied him.

Councilman Larned started out to help the Yankees and the Yankees may wind up having to help him.

When help comes to the Yankees and Councilman Larned finally makes his escape, there may be no gas station—and no gas.

Western Boxing Semi-Finals Set For Next Friday

CALGARY, April 14.—Military District No. 13 and Pacific Command winners in the Canadian Army championship boxing tourney will meet in Calgary on Friday, April 21, to fight for the right to advance to the western Canadian finals.

Announcement that Scott Hall, Currie Barracks, has been chosen as the venue of the Alberta-British Columbia finals was made late Wednesday by the sports committee of Military District No. 13.

Winners will proceed to Winnipeg the following week where the western Canada title bouts will be held on April 28.

With both British Columbia and Alberta having named finalists in all 14 classes to be fought for in the tourney the Calgary soldiers who will witness the bouts are assured of an excellent card. It is expected that a capacity crowd of 2,000 will witness the fights.

Alberta's finalists are in the peak of condition and reports from the various centres indicate that every fighter is training well.

Seven of the Alberta finalists are from No. 131 C.I.B.T.C. Camrose, five from Currie Barracks and one each from A.O.C.S.T.C., Red Deer, and the Army experimental station at Suffield.

The M.D. 13 Sports Committee will meet Friday to make final arrangements for the tourney.

Trail's Passing Smoothies All Primed for Final Test

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters, first British Columbia junior team ever to reach the Memorial cup finals and a team of young smooth-passing "kids" are all set for the best-of-seven series with Oshawa Generals beginning here Saturday.

The 14 members of the squad rested yesterday following a light workout at Maple Leaf Gardens. They will practice again today.

Coach Jerry Thomson said most of the boys have shaken colds and sore throats which plagued them for the last two weeks of their campaign to the finals.

HAVE GREAT RECORD

Smokies, who downed Port Arthur juniors, Thunder Bay champions, to win the western Canada championship, enter the Canadian final with an enviable record.

After hurdling the Edmonton Canadians, the Alberta champions, they took on Regina Commandos. They won a best-of-five series with the Saskatchewan titleholders and were notified their victories would be ruled out because they used an over-age player—Paul Mahara.

The series was resumed, with Regina leading two games to none. Trail went on to win three more consecutive games and then downed Port Arthur three straight.

GENERALS HEAVIER

Their opponents in the final—Oshawa Generals—have a heavier team and to date have reported no injuries. They downed Montreal Royals in the eastern final, after defeating Toronto St. Michael's College in the semi-final round.

Five of the Trail team are Trail boys. They are: Frank Turik, Lorne DePaolis, Ivo Toffolo, Teno Magliani and Jake McLeod. Under Coach Thomson they have moved up from midget ranks.

THREE FROM CALGARY

Calgary is represented by Roy Kelly, Harvey Wood and Mark Marquess. Eddie Miller is from Winnipeg and Hartley McLeod from Selkirk, Man. The Miller boys and McLeod boys are not related.

Coach Thomson got a real surprise the boys Wednesday when he took their sweaters in to have new numbers tacked on by a sport store here. Charlie Watson, prominent Toronto sportsman, noticed the ragged sweaters and donated 15 new sweaters and 15 new pairs of stockings to the team.

ORANGE, N.J., April 14.—A large tear rolled down the left cheek of Mary Galento—handsome, buxom spouse of "Two-Ton Tony"—and splashed on the tavern table. She said, "Tony—you are t-o-o figuring on going to Hollywood."

"I ain't not," countered fat Tony, with the effective double negative.

"Then what's cookin' between you and Lou Costello?" demanded tachrymose Mary as she kerchiefed her eyes.

Manager Willie Gilzenberg, a nervous sitter-in on this family confab in the Galento tavern, shook his bushy, black hair at Mary and admonished, "Don't bodder Tony; he's got things on his mind. He ain't goin' to Hollywood. He's goin' to California to referee a flock of wrestlin' matches—but as soon as we clean up a few limited engagements in Connecticut."

"But what is Lou Costello—?"

TO SHOW TONY AROUND

"Lou Costello is just goin' to show Tony around Los Angeles. Costello is all right for Tony to associate with, even if he does say he's a bad boy in pictures an' on the radio. Costello was wunst a fighter in Paterson, managed by Bill Daly. He's all right, I tell you."

"O—I didn't know Costello had been a fighter."

"There you are," continued Gilzenberg. "There you are; always thinkin' the worst. I don't know nothing about Costello's partner, Abbott; but this Costello is a man's man. He ain't interested in wimmin—just like Tony, who always says you're the only goil in his life."

Gilzenberg hammered home his points. Galento would start his far-western tour at Phoenix, Ariz., May 1, and then move into California "by public demand". The California wrestling promoters, Nick Lutze and Hardy Kruskamp, had insisted upon the former heavyweight challenger touring the state, "after we captervated New England."

"TRI-OOMPH-FUL TOUR"

ACCORDING to Gilzenberg, Galento's recent refereeing trek through New England was a "tri-ommph-ful tour". He said they had sell-out crowds in everyone of the 15 cities where Tony appeared." An' I got newspapper clippin's to prove it." In Boston, it seems, the largest wrestling crowd and gate in six years was attracted when he officiated at the match between the Golden Terror and Sandor Szabo—9,000 fans and nearly $13,000.

"What a hushan' you got," Gilzenberg shot at Mary. "He don't only referee; he gets into the mstch—rollin' around on the canvas, and keeping" in shape by punchin' those mugs around. Why—he's down to 273 pounds right now."

As Galento and Gilzenberg left the table, Tony whispered, "but I really got a chanst for the movies, ain't I? Costello wouldn't be kiddin'?"

"Sure you got a chanst," muttered Gilzenberg, glancing over his shoulder at Mary. "After we get out of Orange."

Helps Giants, Athletics

Draft Acting as Leveller For Major League Ball Clubs

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)— Nothing seems improbable for major league baseball teams this third wartime season—including the feat of hopping from last the preceding year to first place, a trick which never has been accomplished in the past.

The draft, with its varied applications and implications, has levelled all teams today to about the same form as they pose for the start of 1944 campaigns Tuesday.

That makes it just that much easier for the New York Giants and Philadelphia Athletics, last players in their respective leagues at the close of the 1943 race, in their attempt to reach the top this year.

New York Yankees missed accomplishing the trick by a single rung almost two decades ago when the Bronx Bombers, seventh in 1925, finished three games in front of the Cleveland Indians the following year. Much of the Yankee's change was due to the play of two rookies Mark Koenig and Tony Lazzeri.

Four other clubs, however, were able to win their respective league pennants after having finished sixth the previous year—the Detroit Tigers of 1907, Philadelphia Phillies of 1914, Chicago Cubs of 1918 and the Giants of 1932.

Actually, the biggest gain made by an eight-place club was accomplished by the 1903 Giants under John J. McGraw, who wound up 6½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates after being in the loop basement the previous year.

Virtually the same team then annexed the 1904 National League banner and the 1905 world series crown.

Leswick, Ursaki With Lodestars For Game Tonight

PORT ARTHUR, April 14.—(CP)—With forwards Pete Leswick and Johnny Ursaki pronounced as definite starters, New Westminster Lodestars expressed confidence last night they would defeat Port Arthur Shipbuilders and advance into the Dominion senior hockey final with Quebec Aces.

Leading a best-of-seven western Canada final 3-2, with one game tied, Lodestars battle Shipbuilders in the seventh game tonight. They won the sixth game Wednesday 6-2.

Playing coach Frank Dotten said: "We've won three out of the last four games so I don't see any reason why we can't win this one."

Dotten said Leswick would have a bruised rib taped for the game and a head injury would not hinder Ursaki from taking his place as relief forward. Both were injured in Wednesday's clash.

Realizing Shipbuilders are on the spot, coach Hugh O'Leary is confident they still have a fighting chance.

"We're not through yet," he said. "Lodestars have a good club—but I think we can show them something yet ourselves."

Bill Voiselle For Opener?

N.Y. Giants Well Fortified In All Spots Except Pitching

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—First division hopes are a-blooming in New York Giants camp a week before the season opens, despite last year's dismal cellar finish, but pitching appears to bar the way.

Manager Mel Ott can count on last year's outfield and catching staff plus a renovated inner defence bolstered by the veteran Phil Weintraub at first base.

Pitching is the big question mark with Cliff Melton figuring to be No. 1 man although Bill Voiselle, who won 10 and lost 21 for Jersey City, has been showing enough spring stuff to be considered an opening day possibility.

Ace Adams may be pressed into starting service after his brilliant relief work in 70 games last year and Johnny Allen, late in reporting, can be spotted after sufficient rest.

Weintraub at first base is hardly a major league innovation. Buddy Kerr of Jersey City is at shortstop and Cuban Nap Reyes has shifted from first to third where he has been getting competition from Hugh Luby. A .313 clouter for Oakland, Luby has played third in exhibition games although he came up as a second baseman where his competition is George Hausmann, a newcomer from New Orleans where he hit .298. The veteran Billy Jurges is likely to be the third sacker when he shakes off a leg ailment.

Ott's draft call probably has been delayed by the new selective service orders permitting him at least to start the year in right. Bruce (Fatso) Sloan, up from Little Rock with a .365 average, is his replacement. Johnny Rucker is back in centre and Joe Medwick, predicting a return to the .300 circle, is a fixture in left.

Ernie Lombardi is the No. 1 catcher, and that department seems to be in fine shape with the veteran Gus Mancuso and rookie Joe Stephenson from Springfield, Mass., backing up Old Schnozz.

Teachers' Training Classes Planned

CALGARY, April 14.—(CP)—Training classes for teachers in industrial arts may be established at the Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary, some time in the future, according to John W. Barnett, Edmonton, general secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

The Alberta Department of Education and the University of Alberta were giving some consideration to the plan, he said, after conclusion of the three-day annual convention of the association here, Wednesday.

The courses would include training in subjects such as household economics and manual training, it was understood. The student teachers in industrial arts would finish their teachers' degree course at the University.

Proposes Quebec Hold Referendum On Expropriation

QUEBEC, April 14.—(CP)—Hon. Mederic Martin (Lib.-Alma) proposed to the legislative council yesterday that a bill to expropriate Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated, and to form a provincial hydro "come into effect only after having been submitted to the people in a referendum to be held before the next general elections."

The proposal was made in committee, as a substitute for clause 15 of the bill providing that the new hydro commission take over assets of the company April 15. The council had been sitting in committee in morning and afternoon sessions in a clause by clause study of the measure.

Frankie Axed!

ROCKLAND, Ont., April 14.—(CP)—Everything is back to normal following the axing of Frankie the rooster.

Three months ago Frankie developed a throaty whistle which upset the hens so much they wouldn't lay and caused so much disturbance among the goats that they stopped giving milk.

Frankie was axed and in his windpipe was found a toy tin whistle, fugitive of a popcorn bag.

Influenza Cases Reported in North

It is reported that a number of cases of influenza threatening to turn to pneumonia have occurred at Fort MacPherson, 1,400 miles north of Edmonton, and it is believed this is the reason for the request for sulpha drugs made to Ottawa last week. CPA officials at Edmonton said Ottawa had received a request from Mrs. R. Dewdney, wife of the post missionary, for the drugs. Ottawa checked with CPA regarding flights to the northern district and were advised that the last trip before break-up would leave here April 13.

Today officials of the airline had still not received the parcel of drugs but were advised that it had been airmailed from Eastern Canada last Friday. Officials of the CPA were checking into this report Thursday.

Liking for Sea Combined With Skill in Sports Aid Shaping City Sailor's Career

A liking for the sea that took him into the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve years before the present war broke out and an adeptness at sport that made him a star athlete, have combined to shape the career of Chief Petty Officer Bennett "Benny" McKeever.

At present home to visit his wife, young son Bobby, and father, George McKeever, 10656 93 street, CPO. McKever is in charge of sports at H.M.C.S. Stadacona, Halifax, and his success at the post was shown by some of the fine teams turned out there recently.

In the years prior to the outbreak of hostilities, McKeever was keenly interested in the navy and, as a member of the R.C.N.V.R., went on a number of the annual summer cruises in the Pacific and elsewhere.

During this time he was actively engaged in sport here and rose to stardom in Canadian football. He played centre with "Scotty" Brown's Junior Eskimos and later with the senior Eskimo squad.

When war was declared in 1939, CPO. McKeever immediately enlisted for active service, and had been at many different posts until his present appointment last year.

In 1939 he was undergoing naval training at H.M.C.S. Naden and later became the first physical training instructor at Naden where he served for 15 months. Later he took over duties of instructor at H.M.C.S. Kings on the east coast for six months. From there he went to St. Hyacinthe, Que.

He was a member of the Halifax Navy Canadian football team and coached the Stadacona Wrens hockey team, one of the fastest and best of all service girls' teams.

CPO. McKeever has a brother also serving in the R.C.N.V.R. who holds the rank of lieutenant who is serving on one of the Canadian navy destroyers.

Home on Leave

Chief Petty Officer Bennett McKeever, former Edmonton rugby football star, who has returned to the city on furlough. CPO. McKeever is in charge of sports activities at Stadacona 2 barracks of the R.C.N.V.R. at Halifax. A member of the R.C.N.V.R. before the war, CPO. McKeever has been on active service since early in the present struggle.

Delegation Asks For Road Grants

Headed by W. A. Yusep, reeve, and S. P. Mufka, secretary, a delegation from the enlarged municipal disirict of Eagle interviewed Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, at a meeting in the Legislative Building Friday morning.

Road grants and improvement of roads in the municipality were discussed. Routes taken under discussion were the main east-west road through the municipal district, from Willingdon to Derwent. Improvement of cross-roads from Derwent to Vermilion, Myrnam to Mannville, Two Hills to Lavoy, and Willington to Vegreville, were also taken under consideration.

The municipality will make a formal application for a grant to improve roads in the near future, Mr. Fallow stated.

At the last session of the Legislature, the sum of $550,000 was appropriated for the improvement of district highways and local roads. The amount represents an increase of $100,000 over the 1943-44 grant.

Plan Inspection City Buildings

All buildings, whether houses or otherwise, where three or more families are housed the building comes under the definition of an apartment house, and must conform with the building zoning, health and fire regulations for apartments, under the terms of the new license by-law recently authorized, it was announced Friday by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect.

Four license department men are starting next week to check up throughout the city for all such buildings, and it is anticipated that hundreds of houses will be found in the city that are not conforming to the new by-law.

Mr. Dewar said that in enforcing the regulations the city will take into account the federal freezing order of zoning regulations passed in 1942.

He pointed out also that any persons owning a building to house 50 people come under the fire regulations governing public halls.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

It has been stated that public opinion can exercise a good deal of influence over radio programs. Have you ever either complained or praised a particular program?

THE ANSWERS

LOREN HUSTON, visitor from Delburne: Well, I never sent a letter of complaint, but I did once enter a letter in a contest, praising a particular good program. The sponsor, a baking firm, must have liked the letter because it sent me a prize—a dozen doughnuts.

MRS. A. R. MORRISON, housewife: No. I just listen to radio programs as they come on and enjoy them for what they are. If I don't like them, I simply turn them off.

CLAUDE CARD: I always make it a point to listen only to the programs that I enjoy. Therefore, I have never had any occasion to complain about any particular program.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Coming of Age Gives Youth Added Freedom

Parents Must Start Preparing For and Becoming Accustomed to That Day as Soon as Baby Can Stand Alone

Dear Miss Dix: My daughter has reached the age where she thinks a great change should take place in her life. She has just turned 18 and says she is of age. Just what does that mean? Does it mean that she should have her own way in everything? I know it doesn't but would like your opinion on the subject.

MOTHER.

Answer: Coming of age is a legal term that means that the law rates a girl or boy as an adult instead of a child, and makes him or her responsible for his or her acts. After a girl comes of age she can marry without her parents' consent, hold property in her name, etc., etc. She has a right to her own wages, if she works, and if she leaves home her parents cannot force her to come back unless she so desires.

Of course, having her eighteenth birthday doesn't make a girl any wiser than she was the day before, or give her any more judgment, but it does give her more freedom of action. And this is something that her parents should have been preparing for ever since she began to stand alone. For parents can only control their children by force so long as they are physically afraid of them, but they can manage them by love and tenderness and consideration as long as they live.

Many letters come to this column from fathers and mothers who complain of rebellious and what they consider undutiful children. "I can't do a thing with Sally", they wail. "I can't manage John." And nearly always when you sift these cases down to the bottom you will find that the parents are to blame.

The children have been spoiled to death. They have never been controlled. They have never been taught to respect authority or to know any law except their own, or else they have been tyrannized over. They have never had any personal liberty. They have been nothing but little slaves.

And in both cases the result has been disastrous. The girl, who, from her childhood up, has done as she pleased isn't going to turn suddenly obedient and amenable to discipline when she grows up, and the girl who has been kept in bondage all her life isn't going to stay tied to Mother's apron strings. She is going to break them as soon as she has the strength to, and run wild.

If parents expect to have any authority over their grown children, they have to establish in their youngsters' minds respect for their opinions, a reliance on their sense of justice, and faith in their parents' desire for their pleasure and happiness. Nowadays you can't rear children by the old formulas by which their fathers and mothers were brought up, for times have changed, customs have changed, and youth has changed with them.

If parents would remember that and deal with their children on a 1944 platform, instead of the one they were brought upon, we should have fewer mothers and fathers complaining that they can't do a thing with Annabelle or Tommy. You have to drive children with a strong rein, but a loose one, if you don't want them to bolt nowadays.

WANTS TO ENLIST

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 23. Have no children. My husband is overseas and I am very lonely and bored. My job doesn't interest me and I am not content in having come back to live with my parents. The only thing I want to do is to join the WACs. I feel that it would give me something to do that would be interesting to occupy my mind, and would not only benefit me physically and mentally, but would make me more in common with my husband after the the war and, in addition, I would be serving my country.

But when I asked my husband about it he vetoed the idea quite definitely. Under the circumstances would you advise my joining the WAC's in spite of my husband's objections?

RESTLESS.

Answer: I certainly would not advise you to go against your husband's wishes in the matter, but I think he is entirely wrong in his objection to your doing so. No woman who has children should do any kind of war work that takes her outside of her home, because she can best serve her country by keeping the home fires burning and rearing decent citizens. But I think that every able-bodied woman who has no family obligations, is just as much called upon to do war work as the men are to fight.

And it is a fine thing for young wives whose homes have been broken up by their husbands going to the front and who are restless, lonesome and longing for action of some sort to join up with one of the organizations, where they will have discipline and restraint and something to work while to do, on which to expend their energies.

Try to persuade your husband to let you join the WAC's or the WAVES or some other one of the women's outfits that are doing such grand work not only at home, but at the front.

GIRL CHANGED

DEAR MISS DIX: Shortly after the boy I am engaged to left for the front I had a very serious illness. My hair turned almost entirely gray and I had to have all my teeth extracted and false ones substituted. I am well again now, but I can never do anything strenuous such as playing tennis again, and he is crazy about outdoor sports. He does not know of my altered appearance. Shall I tell him about it before he comes home?

Answer: Honesty is the best policy in love as in business. Let your sweetheart get over the shock of knowing before he sees you that you are not the glamor girl he left behind him. If he loves you, it is for the qualities of mind and character you have, not for your hair and teeth.

Chickens have undoubtedly been raised both for food and for egg production many centuries before recorded history. Because of the abundance of wild fowl and game the early American settlers only slowly developed the poultry industry. The raising of tender, plump chickens has now become a science and the quality and flavor of chicken meat has been vastly improved over the first wild chickens used by mankind. Special breeds have been developed which produce the plumpest birds of the most delicate flavor.

Many varieties are raised for their meat, while others are grown for their egg producing ability. Even the latter are finally killed for their meat when they are too old to lay enough eggs.

The largest egg crop is in the late Spring and early Summer. The chickens which are hatched from these eggs are called squab chickens when they weigh between three-fourths of a pound to one and one-quarter pounds. These are usually cooked by broiling, but the ones called roasters are generally a little older, weighing from one and one-half to two pounds. These are all early Spring chickens when between two and four months old. The older and larger hens are sold for roasting after they reach above three pounds in weight. Young cockerels are often falsely sold under the name of Spring chickens.

The capon is a castrated cockerel which grows rapidly fat. In Europe the female chicken is likewise spayed and grows fat, when it is called a poulard.

The best tasting chickens are either fasted for twenty-four hours before killing or fed two or three weeks. Some dealers make a specialty of buying chickens in the market and milk feeding them by a mixture of milk or buttermilk to improve their size and flavor before killing.

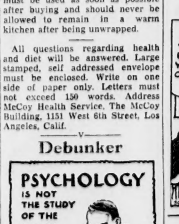

After the chickens are killed and dressed, they are quickly chilled and kept cold so that they come to the consumer in a perfect condition. It is even possible to buy your chicken already cooked and canned in the new way which seals the flavor.

Chicken is one of the finest forms of protein and is easily digested. The mild delicate flavor of a properly roasted chicken is especially appealing to the majority of people. The flesh of chicken is about 20 per cent protein, about equal to lean meat in this important element. Those who are trying to build up will find that protein in the form of chicken may be used frequently. If you intend to cook the chicken yourself, be sure to pick out a young plump bird with a well rounded breast. Reject those with long dull claws, hard, rough, or loose skin, lanky, lean legs or bruised spots on the skin.

The lower lip of the breast bone should be quite flexible with a young bird. Fresh chickens should be allowed to remain on ice for about two days to make the tissue more tender. Cold storage fowls must be used as soon as possible after buying and should never be allowed to remain in a warm kitchen after being unwrapped.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Most people think "psychology" is a study of the mind. It is not this at all, for no one knows exactly what the mind is or any way to study it as such. Psychology is a study of human personality as pointed out by Dr. A. Gordon Melvin, in his fascinating book, "Building Personality." Psychologists have learned much about the way habits are formed and broken, the way learning takes place, the effect of the instinctive urges upon conduct and the relative effects of environment and heredity in the conduct of an individual. This is not a "study of the mind."

One of the Life Masters we don't hear very much about lately is Charles Lochridge of New York. Lochridge is perhaps one of the most deceptive bidders in the game. I don't mean that he is a psychic bidder, but he just seems to know what bid to make either to get his side into the best contract or to throw the opponents off balance.

In today's hand, from the Eastern Tournament, Lochridge made a marvelous defensive play. Sitting South, he won the opening spade lead with the queen. Now he reasoned that he had the club suit stopped twice, and it looked as if his proper lead was a diamond. But for West to have a bid, he must hold the ace, king and queen of diamonds.

Lochridge decided that his best play was to try to kill dummy, so he led a small heart right into the ace-queen. When declarer led the king of clubs, Lochridge won and led another heart. Now the declarer could cash two club tricks, three diamonds and three hearts—but that's only eight tricks. Thus the contract was defeated.

DUMB-BELLS

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Many stepparents write me, enumerating the problems they have inherited with their new children. Almost all of these letters display a similar attitude. The attitude is that of a new housekeeper who has taken charge of a house badly in need of renovation, and with vigor and ambition she is going to see that it gets it.

This attitude she carries into her new relationship with her step-children. She notices immediately that Marjery still sucks her thumb. She'll do something about that—such a big girl with a thumb in her mouth. She is appalled that Edward, aged 10, is afraid of the dark. She'll fix that. Buddy, 5, is still a cry-baby. That's something to attack.

Her aims as laudable. Her vim and vigor is tremendous. The results are often deplorable. For what she succeeds in doing is to make herself a critic and a hated disciplinarian, and most of the amazing all the antagonism the children tend to feel toward this newcomer in their home.

There is one object which she should endeavor to achieve and that is to win the admiration and friendship of these children. She can't accomplish one other thing until she succeeds in this. She can't cure one bad habit or end the fear the child displays or the unhappiness the cry-baby is expressing. Not until she shows them that she is their friend, that she wants to make them happy and not just cure tem of all the behavior which annoys her.

She can't demand love of these children just because their father is married to her. Not unless she earns it. But she can be friendly, interested and co-operative. She can allay their fears that this new parent is going to be mean to them.

There is no harder role than that of stepmother. One has all the responsibility of parenthood without any of its real rewards. But it has acquired its bad name chiefly because of this universal tendency of stepparents to want to make children over and thus bring pride to themselves for the job.

It's the wrong approach and defeats itself. The right approach is to accept the children as they are and learn to like and respect them. Then, when affection is won, there is time enough to ask their aid in ending behavior which has its grip upon them.

Concerned Mother: Your letter came too late to make the column before Easter. But I hope Daddy bought the candy eggs for a moderate indulgence in them wouldn't hurt the boy at all.

Our leaflet, "Wise Management of the Child," may be had by sending your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper, together with a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

North Pole Region Seen as Possible World Crossroads

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—The region of the North Pole may become "the crossroads of the world," Rep. Plumley (R., Vt.) told the United House of Representatives in urging approval of a $1,000,000 appropriation for exploration of petroleum resources in Alaska.

Plumley said international commerce of the future promises to depend upon direct transport between the United States, Canada, Russia and China using the North Pole region.

The area to be surveyed embraces about 35,000 square miles bordering the Arctic ocean in the vicinity of Point Barrow, and extending inland about 130 miles.

Minute Make-Ups

Just a minute, my lady! Do you know—that eight glasses of water a day are a source of skin beauty? That early wrinkles are usually the result of too-dry skin? A minute a day to apply cream keeps wrinkles away! Do you know that a lighter shade of foundation cream on a receding chin wil give the illusion of greater prominence? Do you know that picking up marbles with your toes is a good way to relieve foot strain?

Army Girl Weds Airman

Multi-colored spring flowers banked the altar of St. Stephen's church on Easter Monday, for the marriage of Cpl. Jean Muriel Adam, C.W.A.C. and Sgt. William R. Cameron, R.C.A.F., of Edmonton. The Rev. Canon J. C. Matthews officiated.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length green of white sheer, fashioned with a gathered skirt falling from a high waist line. The bodice was shirred with a silk braided yoke, styled with a high neckline and long sleeves. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and completing her ensemble she wore a gold pendant, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of red Hollywood roses and cream narcissus.

L.-Cpl. Cecelia Adam, C.W.A.C., attended her sister as bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of powder blue sheer, styled with a full skirt, tight bodice, and sweetheart neckline. Tiny pink velvet bows and short puffed sleeves were other features of her ensemble. She wore a half hat of sunni blue with matching veil and flowers. White gloves and a bouquet of pink and white carnations and mauve sweetpeas made her ensemble complete.

Little Margaret Wilson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a low length frock of turquoise blue sheer which had a full gathered skirt trimmed with tiny pink velvet bows, short puffed sleeves, and a Peter Pan collar. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses and sweetpeas.

Bernard Young played the wedding marches, and during the signing of the hal register Miss Sally Kelly sang "O Perfect Love."

After the service a wedding breakfast was served to members of the immediate families, at the Macdonald hotel. Special guest was Cpl. Alice M. Wallne, C.W.A.C.

BRIDE'S TABLE

The bride's table was decorated with pink and white snapdragons and centre was a three-tiered cake flanked on either side by tall white tapers. V Cameron proposed a toast to the bride.

Mrs. Adam, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece dress of navy blue silk crepe with white trim, small navy hat and navy accessories. Talisman roses en corsage were pinned to her shoulder.

Canadian Wren Is Cover Girl

OTTAWA, April 14. — (CP) — Wren Rosemary Baker of Vancouver, is the "cover girl" of The Canadian Times, new j-chrisened magazine of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

Rosemary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lefebvre Baker, is 21, with brown hair and blue eyes. She is five feet five inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

DREW PICTURE

"I don't know why they picked me," she told The Canadian Press in an interview today. "The unit officer called me up and told me to bring my tricorne over to the naval art department; they drew my picture and so here I am on the cover."

Stationed at H.M.C.S. Bytown, she is a writer in the naval record department.

TIDDLEY TIMES

The Tiddley Times, designed to bring Wren news to all members of the service, has been published without a name since the first issue in December, 1943.

A name contest conducted by the editor, Lieut. Nancy Pyper of Winnipeg and Toronto, was won by Lieut. Jack Snyder, of Montreal. In navy slang "tiddley" means "very best" or "very smart" and a sailor's walking out uniform is referred to as his "tiddley suit."

Danish Fund Helps Seamen

The Danish Relief fund, which was formed in Montreal under the War Services' Act to help and succor Danish seamen coming to that port, has been called upon to provide comforts and shelter for Danish seamen wherever they may be in any port of the United Nations and in order to assist in this worthy cause, branch committees have been set up in various of the large centres of Canada.

The aims of the fund are to contact Danish seamen while in port and see that they are properly housed and also furnish good reading matter in English and Danish, to see that no seaman suffers from lack of care when ill; to send Christmas parcels to Danish seamen in British or Canadian ports; to assist the Danish branch of the Canadian Red Cross in all its activities; to send small gifts, such as cigarettes to Danish volunteers in the Canadian Armed Forces overseas.

BRANCH CHAIRMAN

Carl Gunderson is chairman of the Edmonton branch; Miss Inger Christoffersen, secretary, and Miss Anna Fuglsang, treasurer.

When German troops invaded Denmark in 1940, more than 5,000 Danish seamen sailing the seven seas, were prevented from returning to their native land and families.

For three and one half years these seamen have served the cause of the United Nations on ships carrying supplies to Great Britain and her Allies, but the absence from their homes for such a long period is beginning to be felt.

7 In Memoriam

STURGEON—In loving memory of Jack Sturgeon, who passed away, April 14, 1942.

Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest;
And those who think of him today
Are those who loved him best.
The flowers we lay upon his grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for him who lies beneath
Will never fade away.

—From Mother and Dad, May and Florence.

In loving memory of Belle Wallace, who passed away April 14th, 1941.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
Finds the time hard since you went;
There is someone who thinks of you daily,
But tries hard to be brave and content.

—Ever remembered by her husband Cecil Wallace, and Sister Joe.

Chicago Barley, Rye Prices Ahead

CHICAGO, April 14—(AP)—A good upturn in rye and barley futures in the closing minutes of trade imparted strength to other pits and all cereals closed with a strong undertone. The buying was based on unconfirmed rumors that Canada may halt exports of barley to this country.

Previous to the late advance the market had been lacking any definite trend. At one time fairly substantial offerings of May wheat and oats were made, but these were absorbed without difficulty at ceiling levels. The late upturn was aided by short covering and an improvement in the market's technical condition following yesterday's sell-off.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ½ higher, oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, rye was ahead ¼-1 cent, and deferred barley contracts were up ¾-⅞.

City's Spring Stock Showing Big Success

One of the most successful spring livestock shows in the history of the Edmonton Exhibition Association was concluded Thursday with the judging in the pure-bred bull competition and sale.

Throughout the three days of the show the attendance at the ringside for the judging was considerably larger than in previous year, and the quality of the cattle and horses on exhibition was notably above that of previous years.

Another feature of the show was the all-time high price paid for the champion steer shown in the beef classes. This animal was bought by Safeway Stores Ltd. at 93 cents a pound, topping the high price at Calgary by 13 cents.

CALGARIAN WINS

In the Hereford bull classes W. A. Crawford-Frost, Calgary exhibitor, took the championship with Mischief Advance, while the reserve ribbon went to Ferrybank Blanchard, 7th, No. 145824, exhibited by Butterfield Bros., Ponoka.

The grand championship in the Shorthorn bull classes was won by Glenrobin Balmuchy 22nd, No. 266540, exhibited by W. L. Robinson, Vermilion. The reserve ribbon went to Craigievar Rosemont 4th, shown by the Andrew district breeder, William M. Melenka.

E. I. Clarke, Edmonton, won the championship in the Aberdeen Angus bull classes, with Namao Barcap 3rd, No. 71,860, and also the reserve championship with Namao Blackcap King 1st.

A total of $27,990 was realized from the sale of 141 purebred bulls, with the top price of the show going to Mr. Crawford-Frost for his champion Hereford Mischief Advance.

In the keenest of bidding competition several local breeders vied with A. Carmel, Maddstone, Sask., for this animal, the final bid going in favor of the Saskatchewan breeder at $1,050. The Calgary breeder sold three other bulls for $550, $450 and $325.

TOP SHORTHORN PRICE

Liberation of Sevastopol To Stir Soul of Russia

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 14.—(AP)—The Red army is on the eve of an accomplishment which will stir the very soul of mother Russia—the liberation of beloved Sevastopol.

The "Jewel of the Crimea" is celebrated throughout the Soviet Union in poem and song, for it was at ancient Sevastopol that the Russians hung on for nine months in 1941 and 1942 in the face of great odds. Their supply lines were thinned to almost nothing and soldiers delved deep in their hearts for strength to carry on.

Today the fast-moving, mobile 4th Ukraine army of Gen. Feodor Tolbukhin with Kuban Cossacks, their gay colors flashing in the bright southern sun, swept through the lush valleys and low hills north of the city.

FELL JULY 3, 1942

Sevastopol fell July 3, 1942. Its defence was one of the great feats of the war. The Germans and Rumanians, gathered in the favorable hill positions outside the city, poured tons of shells into Russian positions.

The people of Sevastopol took up the burden of defence with the Red army, marines and sailors, and many lost their lives in the front lines. Women and children fought alongside the men. They helped haul ammunition, and when soldiers fell the women took the guns.

Profoundly stirred by the struggle for Sevastopol, the government struck a medal which is worn proudly by those who lived to get away. Many of these asked to go back and now are in the front ranks of the forces advancing upon the city.

When the Russians finally abandoned Sevastopol after that heroic defence, it was estimated 200,000 Axis troops lost their lives. The total included members of the Luftwaffe who bombed the city day and night.
